Evaluating solutions to improve access to WASH for the urban poor

Laura Costica
Research Manager
Abdul Latif Jameel Poverty Action Lab (J-PAL)

FSM2 Conference, Durban – 29th Oct, 2012
J-PAL started in 2003 as a Center at MIT’s Economics Dept. – now Regional Offices Worldwide at Universities
J-PAL has 344 Projects in 50 Countries in almost all Development Sectors
Randomised Controlled Trials (RCTs)
The Urban Services Initiative

Identify, design, and rigorously test innovative micro- and medium-scale solutions to the problems of inadequate access to...

Water

Sanitation

Hygiene

© Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

© LivelyMinds

© Laura Costica
USI research questions – examples

Which management models for communal goods are more effective? Community vs. Private vs. Government?
USI research questions – examples

What business models are more effective to sustain entrepreneurship programs?